Finn and Callender Take Prizes With Food and Drink

All But Kitchen Sink Used in Making of the Curios Worn on Heads

The headdress party at the Shoreham Country Club last Saturday night afforded to Shorehamites a good opportunity to think of crazy things to wear on their heads. As the time approached for the judging more and more unique head covers came in the door.

The judges for this occasion were Mrs. Jantzer. Miss Varian and Webster Wells. The parade was called and the couples began to march past the judges stand where the judges were trying to pick out the best headdress on a woman and the best headdress on a man. The judges narrowed things down to reven headdresses including Mrs. T. K. Elliott with a Spanish head-dress, Mrs. W. R. Callender, who had a circular loaf of bread on the top of her head as food for thought, Mr. Miles of potato peddling fame arrived this time with his whole garden on the top of his head, Dr. F. W. Finn had a mint julep made of celophane for his hat, and W. D. Van Arnam Jr., had a small figure of a waiter bringing in some drinks on the top of his head.

Also Mrs. J. Quincy Hunsicker III with a red Egyptian headdress and Ivy Stevens with a black Spanish head cover that contrasted well with the white one that Mrs. Elliott

From the seven here mentioned the judges picked as winners Mrs. Callender and that loaf of bread which was tied on with a blue ribbon and Dr. Finn with his mint julep. Others who had good headdresses were those with iron hel-mets, Gladys Koch in her baby's bonnet, the boys who came with angel's haloes, Bob Olmstead and his woodpecker. Some one even wore a colander. Janet Waters had an old Paris model of an old lady's bonnet that she picked up at an auction sale for fifty cents. Mrs. Brandon and Mr. Varian wore brown derbies, Mrs. Van Arnam had a bird nest with an egg in it, and Mr. Bush had a bottle label pasted on the top of his rather bald head under which shone a very red nose.

The balloon dance which followed later in the evening worked into scores of balloons popping until the field was narrowed down to three couples. In this condition things re-( Continued on page 2)

Village Trustees

Approve Signs, Floats And Having Curbs Fixed

There was a meeting of the Village Board of Trustees of the village of Shoreham held last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The meeting was presided over by Mayor Cary D. Waters. All the board members attended. Also attending were M. H. Lewis, treas-urer, W. J. Sherman, clerk, and Alfred Varian, village attorney.

After attending to routine business matters, the board made appropriations for a new village sign to replace the battered one that marks the entrance to the village near the Shoreham store. This sign should have been put in place by the time this paper has gone to press,

The board also made appropriations for additional floats of the metal type to be placed on the raft ropes. This will completely fill all the spaces in the rope that are not now properly supported by floats. Another appropriation of the board was to have several broken curbs in the village repaired. This work has already been begun and among the curbs that have been fixed are the one to the south of the Shoreham Store, and the one in front of the house occupied by the Schells.

EAGLETS AND EAGLES

The clubs in Shoreham that are being formed by the younger children are getting out of hand. No sooner does one club become an accomplished fact then it folds up and another one takes its place.

Today several young girls said that they were forming a new club and asked that it be put in the paper. They were told to write out a notice about it and hand it in inside of half an hour.

Here is the notice:

"Get-together Club breaking up; girls form Eaglet Club assisting the Eagle Club."

Shorehamites Attend Card Parties Here And at Port Jefferson

The two card parties held this past week were great successes. The one at the Shoreham Country Club which was a morning bridge followed by a delicious luncheon was attended by sixty members of the community and their friends.

Davis Ruins Car And Phone Pole On Way to Port

Car Without Driver On Its Way Down Hill Ends Trip in Tree

Bill Davis ran into a telephone pole last Saturday night after the dance at The Shoreham Country Club. The accident occurred when Davis was driving alone on the way to Port Jefferson about 3:45 o'clock. He had already been to Port with Jack Kohlmann and Jean Cristy, and had brought them back to Shoreham only to head back to Port alone.

Somewhere between Echo and Mount Sinai he skidded and ran into a telephone pole, snapping it in two places and thoroughly ruining his car. He had been thrown into the other seat of the car so that when the car finally landed in a ditch and the steering wheel was pushed back into the driver's seat it didn't hurt him.

Janet Waters and her guest, Mr. Joe Linington, were among the first to reach the accident as they were on their way from Port. They took Davis to the Mather Hospital where he spent the night and had his bruises and cuts attended to. However, he was able to return to Shoreham the next morning where he has been seen hobbling about all week on canes.

Mrs. Norman Haliday and her daughter, who were guests of the Hogebooms, left their car on the hill in front of the Hogeboom house last Sunday afternoon with the brakes off. The car with no one to tell it what to do decided to see what the surrounding country was like. The car rolled down the hill, missed the corner and ran over the Belknap's lawn taking the short way around the corner. But the (Continued on Page 4)

SHOREHAM COUNTRY CLUB

Some one recently said that the Shoreham Country Club seemed to run itself. This should be a great compliment to those who really run the club because it shows how smoothly the club is run and how efficiently things are carried out.

But if the person who said that the club seemed to run itself could only see what is going on behind the scenes and all the work that is necessary for the club to maintain the standards that it does he could hardly make a statement that the club runs itself.

If all this work and planning is necessary, then it would seem that somewhere there was a paid manager with several paid assistants to do the work. But there is only one person that is continually in the pay of the club and that is the steward, Harrison Ware, who for the past two years has been holding this position and does all the work around the clubhouse during the week. On Saturday nights there are additional waiters and the orchestra that are paid for what they do. On Wednesday nights Miss Jantzer conducts dancing classes for the children, the expense of which is stood by the parents of the children in the classes and not the club. Other then these, there is no one in the club who is paid for what he or she does in order to make the club what it is.

There are a lot of people who do work for the club, who get nothing for their services but the satisfaction of seeing a job well done and the few meager praises from those who stand on the side and watch being just enough interested to know who is doing the work. But there are some, also, who are just satisfied to let things go on and not care what is happening.

In this space the editor would like to speak a word of thanks and appreciation publicly to the people who do the work at the Shoreham Country Club. This goes to the president and the heads of all his committees, and if there is any one who thinks that they don't do any work just change places with one of them or watch them for one week and see just how much time they put in on club business in one week.

To be sure there are a few ex captions where club business is not handled in a very efficient manner. A few people cannot do everything. As an example who is the one to fix the victrola and see that it is working, no one seems to know and it needs fixing badly. Also what happened to the ping pong equipment and the things for the badminton court.

Therefore it seems essential that more people take an interest in things at the club, in order to run them entirely right. There are a certain few people who are doing of the above-mentioned forms of all the work at the club and there are a lot more people who are just sitting on the sidelines, taking all of the pleasure out of the club and putting nothing into the betterment of it. Before long the people who are doing all the work will want to stop and have a little fun without all the worry that goes with it. Then it will be up to the ones who are on the sidelines to do the work or they will not have a club in which to have their fun. The sideline sitters should keep this in mind. They should try to help all those who are doing the work whenever they have the opportunity. It is not necessary to be asked to do something, come forward and offer your services. Also when asked to do something do it willingly. Remember some day you may be a committee head and you will want cooperation and help from others so that you can do the work in the best possible way.

The Country Club belongs to the members and it is up to them to make it something to be proud of. Those in charge are always ready to receive helpful suggestions, and they will try to make the club what you want it to be.

So remember that it is your club and it is up to you to make it what you want it to be.

SUNDAY NIGHT SONG SERVICE

T. K. Elliott in a short talk at the Sunday Night Song Service last Sunday spoke of this gathering in Shoreham as follows: "Sunday Evening Song Service in Shoreham is unique in this day and age. This nation was founded on the basis of religious liberty and early colonists met together in small groups in the first settlements to give praise and thanks to God. For the same reason we are gathered here, and I esteem it a true privilege to be asked to lead this service this evening.

"We have heard recently some comments that our attendance is small. Jesus Christ said, 'Where two or three are gathered together Jesus Christ said, in my name, there I will be in their midst.' So we feel that our meetings can be sincere and purposeful whether many of our people attend or not. Still we would like to see a larger attendance at these meetings or services. Why? As a business man working all week in the city, enjoying the week-ends here in Shoreham, I do not know of any more satisfying moments in the whole week than the few spent here at these services on Sunday evening. The brotherly spirit, the enjoyable singing, the word of prayer and responsive reading, and the lingering for a short time afterwards to meet and chat for a moment with those about us, the cordial handshakes and greetings, give an inspiration as nothing else can for the return to the city and another week's work.

"I heard another comment a day or two ago, to the effect that this service hints at 'hypocrisy' after a week-end of pleasure why a moment of piety? I do not believe the comment was really intended to be sincere. Piety is a fundamental thing in our minds and is present in our lives all of the time, even in our moments of pleasure. The dicour moments of pleasure. The tionary defines 'hypocrisy' as feigning to be what one is not' or 'affectation'. This is the eleventh summer we have attended these services and I have yet to see either

TWO CAR CRACKUPS CAUSE EXCITEMENT

(Continued from Page 1) car missed the turn back onto the road and went straight across the street and through the hedge into the Waters' orchard.

Here among all the trees it was not such easy going for the car. After going under an apple tree pushing its low branches aside with ease and missing a post by inches, it ran its nose square into the trunk of a tree. This damaged the tree slightly and shook all the apples off of it. But this is noth-ing compared to what nappened to the car. It had its bumper bent into a perfect "V" and all the shackles that held the bumper on were ripped off, the radiator grill was mashed in and the metal work in front of the grill looked as if someone had gone to work with a can opener.

It was a good thing that the owners of the car were able to get the car out under its own power after this wreck, because it was in a position where it would have been almost impossible to get a car that could pull it out. It was, also, a good thing that there was no one walking on the road or no cars coming when this car went for its lonely ride or the results might have been more serious.

HELPFUL HINTS For Home Decorating

by Uncle Andy

Say, I run onto a pretty smart stunt the other day. Thought you might like to hear about it. (An' I hope you would— 'cause I'm jest fairly bustin' to tell you about it.)

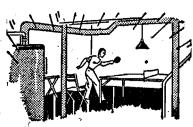

But as I was say-in', Alf Smither, you know—lives over on Elm— took me down in his cellar for some of that eider of his the other night and I happened to notice his furnace in passin' (on the way down).

Well Sir, he'd gone and painted that furnace a light brown—over the galvanized iron; the asbestos; the heatin' pipes and everything—an' rigged his room up like one of these fancy play rooms all the rich folks over on the north side has got. Didn't cost him but a few dollars either. And you never would know the old cellar. But to would know the old cellar. But to get back to the furnace; it's just alicker than anything you ever saw now because that enamel paint makes it so's you can wipe off all the dust with a damp cloth. His missus sure is proud of Alf.

Anddoyou know what gave him the idea? He was paintin' his kitchen table the other day with Waterspar Enamel. And he got to thinkin'—"shucks, if this here enamel will hold to this table so keen like, I think I'll give her a try on the furnace." And sure enough it worked like a charm. When you pass the Thurber Lumber Co., Inc., store next time, drop in an' let them show you some more of the stunts this fine enamel will do. It's only $1.50 per quart.
