FIFTEEN CENTS

NOVELTY IS SLATED AT CLUB TOMORROW

Committee Cancels Minstrel Show; Bridge Party Next Week

Amateur Night is the novelty program slated by the Entertainment Committee for tomorrow evening. In nature it is impromptu; before it received its present name, it had been given the title of Volunteer Night.

Residents of the Village and their guests, it has been announced, are asked to volunteer for a few moments of the evening. Skits of any nature, solos, quartets, dance acts, all will be appreciated.

"The flavor of the evening will bend toward the impromptu", stated Mrs. F. W. Nye, chairman of the committee on entertainment, "and all club members and their guests are welcome to aid in making the evening a success".

For Friday evening, August 1, the Entertainment Committee has arranged a bridge party to be held in the Clubhouse at 8:30. There are to be tables of Auction and Contract bridge, non-progressive, with a prize for each table. Also, if desired, tables of Five Hundred may be played. Poker players will form a separate table.

Tickets will be priced at four dollars per bridge table and $1.50 per head at poker. Mrs. E. W. Oliver is chairman for Friday. Saturday night there will be a dance, the committee announced.

Announcement has been made by Mrs. F. W. Nye, chairman of the Entertainment Committee that the Minstrel Show, scheduled for Saturday evening, August 9, has been cancelled. Reasons stated were that the committee could not fill the place of Mr. DeWitt Bailey as Interlocutor, and since Mr. Bailey would be unable to attend rehearsals, the entertainment would of necessity be cancelled.

A one-act play was announced by the Committee for Saturday, August 16. Plans are at present in an embryonic state concerning the name. Choice of material will be decided upon Monday, it was stated.

TRUSTEES' MEETING

A meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Village of Shoreham has been announced for 2 p. m. tomorrow by Wesley J. Sherman, Clerk of the Village. The Trustees will convene at the residence of Cary D. Waters, Mayor.

SOLO IS FEATURED IN SUNDAY SERVICES

Mrs. John Eates Sings "Going Home" At Village Sabbath Meeting

The second of this season's Sunday Song Services took place in the Clubhouse last week-end. Mr. Edward F. Stevens led the assembly, as he has done in past years.

Composing the first part of the service was a group of hymns selected by Mr. Stevens. Next on the program came a solo by Mrs. John Bates. Her selection was "Going Home", the Largo from the New World Symphony of Dvorak. Mrs. Bates was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. L. A. Eddy, who also played for the hymns. A responsive reading was announced by Mr. Stevens; then further hymns were sung, selected by members of the assembly. The meeting closed with a prayer read by the gathering.

A week previous, the opening Song Service was led by Mr. E. W. Oliver, and accompanied by Mrs. Eddy on the piano.

BEACH PRIVACY CONTROLLED

"The privacy of the Shoreham beach is believed to be under control, according to statements of the Special Police of the waterfront," stated an announcement issued yesterday by Wesley J. Sherman, Chief of Police.

Walkuries, Senoras, Colonial Maids, Present At 'Bal de Tete'; Six Prizes Awarded

Shoreham en masse took to the idea of the Entertainment Committee of a "Bal de Tete", in the clubhouse last Saturday evening. Nearly all club members were reported in attendance.

Head costuming varied from the beautiful to the exotic. Spanish damsels, yachtsmen, Indians, Colonial maids, a pair of table silver Walkuries, a motometer, all paraded about the dance floor not in the least bit shy of their prominence.

First prize for beauty went to Mrs. F. Warden, as a Senora from Madrid, and to Mr. Paul Fisher, as a Mexican bandit. Second awards for beauty were presented to Mrs. Elliott as Carmen, and to Mr. Ralph Robey, the male half of the Walkuries. Mrs. Nye, the Duchess from Alice in Wonderland, and Mrs. C. D. Waters, the Lady of the Green Hat, were chosen winners for the most

Relic Unearthed At Inn

A carved wooden sign, three feet broad by seven inches high was unearthed at ten o'clock this morning by Joseph Malduca, who has the contract for the demolition of the old Flavell's Shoreham Inn. The board is unpainted, with letters carved to a height of three inches in two lines.

The legend reads "E. E. WILLIAMS YEAR 1889, JAN. 13". The last five letters of the word "WILLIAMS" are nearly effaced, but have been pieced together to form the name. According to Malduca, in razing the kitchen of the old farmhouse upon which was built the Inn, his men came across a five-layered floor. Chopping through it they came across a package of old newspapers with the date 1906 and the sign.

From the wording on the sign, it is gathered that in the year 1889 a person by the name E. E. Williams was at the old Farm House which composes the right wing of the Hotel. Whether he owned the house or was merely residing there at the time has not been ascertained.

Animal of Jack Kohlman Caught in Mud At Wading River Friday Afternoon

Dolly, eight-year-old white horse of Jack Kohlman, barely escaped drowning Friday, when five men worked for four hours to extract her from a mud hole in Wading River creek, according to a statement made by her owner. Rescued finally at high tide with the water covering all but her nose, she was uninjured save for exposure and a bruise on the left side of her head.

Incidents related by young Kohlman, who, with David Scott, was with the horse at the time of the accident, tell how it occurred.

Both youngsters rode the horse along the railroad tracks from Shoreham to Wading River, at 11 a. m. Friday. They left the tracks at Wading River station and rode on the tar road there toward the waterfront. Before they reached the pavilion, Kohlman guided Dolly from the road toward a makeshift bridge across the creek. At that time the water was at ebb tide.

Five hundred feet from the mouth of the stream the boys dismounted; Kohlman started to lead the horse across planks over the water, while Scott looked for a better crossing. Half way to the other side of the bridge Dolly's right hind foot slipped off the planks, and, in an effort to regain her balance, she stumbled, plunged fore feet first into a mud hole beneath, hardly covered with water. Kohlman attempted to hold the reins, to aid the horse, but was nearly pulled into the slime in doing so.

The boys tried for nearly an hour to push the horse out of the bog, but Dolly only sank deeper in the mud.

Several men from Wading River, who were in the vicinity directed Kohlman to telephone his father in Shoreham. After a quarter of an hour, Dr. Kohlman was on the scene, and with the men who had aided his son, William E. Miller, Clifford Rowley, Clifford Rowley, Jr., and Edward Kinsey, tried by various means to raise the horse from her dangerous position.

Burlap bags and ropes were procured, while the tide began to rise. For four hours the men worked in the bog, trying not only to drive the animal from the mud, but to lift extraordinary head dress. Seen in the Grand March of the evening were Mrs. F. U. Warden, Mr. Lewis, Mrs. H. F. Hughes, Miss Eugenie Finn, Mr. Ralph Robey, Mrs. A. J. Sackett, Mr. A. J. Sackett, Mrs. F. L. Finn, Mrs. F. W. Nye, Mr. Edgar Nye, Mr. C. D. Waters, Mrs. C. D. Waters, Mr. J. Kohlman, Miss Jane Eddy, Miss Adele Fischer, Mr. F. W. Nye, Mr. H. F. Hughes, Mr. Herbert Frei, Mr. Otto Hagenah, Jr., Miss Peggy Elliott, Mrs. Elliott, Mr. Van Arnum, Mrs. Van Arnum, Mr. Randall Warden, Mrs. Alfred Varian, Jr., Mr. John Varian, Miss Mary Cross, Mr. Wm. Sedgwick, Jr., Mr. Thomas Hughes, Miss Joy Sedgwick, Mr. C. D. Waters, Mrs. C. D. Waters, Miss Virginia Macy.

ROAD SIGNS

Never before have the Village officials of Shoreham seen fit to procure caution signs for dangerous corners of the town. It has been the policy of our Department of Police not to resort to signs of any nature save boards reading "Incorporated Village of Shoreham" at each end of Woodville Road. These have been removed within the past two years.

Now has come a further clause into the policy of the Department. It has been prompted possibly by minor accidents about the Village, no collisions of a serious nature having occurred in a number of years, if ever.

The sign idea is sound, if the boards be heeded. If they should be disregarded at any time by any driver they will have failed in the purpose for which they have been installed.

A question arises as to whether it be necessary to have such warning notices in the town. In an ideal state, all automobile drivers being cautious all the time everywhere, they would be unnecessary. But, it would seem, people are constantly in a hurried condition, in which speed is requisite. With safe velocity on land at a maximum, which often is greatly exceeded, some manner of preventing automobile accidents must be designed. One of the measures employed is that which has been officially recognized by the Village Police. It is not intended to beautify property nor to instill fear into car drivers, but to increase safety for both pedestrian and motorist.

To this end Chief of Police Wesley Sherman has announced the procedure. It will take time to judge results. Another experiment has commenced.

SIX TO SIX HUNDRED

Shoreham, as a community, has a reputation for being usually in a state of general cleanliness regarding the lack of litter on village roads. Of late, however, carelessness has become noticeable in the indifferent disposal of newspaper wrappers and envelopes along Woodville road from the Store to the Club.

The matter is not in the least of an urgent nature, for it is seldom that more than a half dozen scraps of paper are visible on the stretch from the Post Office to the water. Perhaps it is because of their paucity that these scraps are noticeable. Six pieces of paper in two thousand feet of grass and shrubs strike the eye more than six hundred in the same distance.

With six pieces the matter is a question; with six hundred it would have become a problem. Questions usually have apparent answers, whereas people detest delving into the elements to seek the response to a problem. Questions have the insistency soon to become problems, if not prevented. Six scraps can be picked up and disposed of properly in as many seconds. Six hundred could not be attended to in the same number of minutes.

If we prevent the six from growing a hundredfold, we will not have that additional problem upon our hands. The cure is simple: either dispose of paper wrappings before leaving the Post Office, or utilize any of the other waste cans situated conveniently about the village. Thus, with the proper cooperation, we will be able to uphold the clean reputation of Shoreham.

BOATING FACILITIES

Among the main attractions of the Village are the beach and the water. Compared with other bathing facilities, not necessarily on this part of Long Island, Shoreham's waterfront is valuable, not only because of its safety and lack of treacherous water holes, but also for the reason that further precautions have been taken by Village authorities, to guard the welfare of bathers.

In the past six to eight years the shoreline has become more attractive by the gradual appearance of dories and motor boats at buoy three hundred feet off the beach. Some might argue that nature needs no aid to be beautiful. But nature herself is either to be blamed or to be thanked for presenting such facilities for marine pleasure.

For a boat which draws but a few feet of water, an anchorage off Shoreham is close to the ideal, with so few rocks and the entire lack of shoals which are to be found in abundance parallel to the eastern coast. Boats of any sort lend attraction to water sports. Since Shoreham is famed for bathing, it is even more fortunate, that, in connection with this, boating is equally safe.

People are beginning to realize this fact all the more; evidence to augment the statement may be seen in the motorboat of C. V. Pallister and the dories of E. W. Oliver, John Bates and that of Edward Hagenah and Joseph Bellport. With the fact in mind that boats in no way detract from the beauty of the horizon, we may discern that Shoreham has only started to utilize the many facilities afforded it by that master planner, nature.

"The stag at Saturday eve had drunk its fill". In other words, where were some of the Shoreham damsels at the "Bal de Tete"? We will not take "yes" for an answer.

What we want to know is the reason for the present drouth of wise cracks concerning the Dinkey.

Skipper R. Oliver of ye goode shippe Kit tells of a remarkable experience, wherein he felt the need of a sudden swim in the cooling waters of the Sound. So, as the arm of an unseen octopus grabbed him from behind, he remembered that he was wearing his glasses. Then: he removed said goggles from before his orbs, placed them in his cap and tumbled overboard past the stern of the boat. He said the glasses were unharmed. We believe that the whole thing was an optical illusion.

He has now gotten the reputation for being a fast worker.

Road Signs Located At Dangerous Corners

Road signs have been placed about the Village of Shoreham during the past week, at various dangerous curves and corners. "Caution" and "Danger" signs have been located at Prospect Street, Tagliabue Road, Wardenclyff Road and Woodville Road, under direction of Wesley J. Sherman, Chief of Police.

A board at the store cautions drivers to slow down to twenty miles an hour, while all others are warnings of dangerous intersections and turns. Six pairs of these have been already set in position. According to Chief Sherman others are being constructed by Bailey's Lumber

SQUAB, THE ELIXIR OF LIFE

It is a common knowledge that eminent physicians prescribe Squab for convalescents. Since Squabs have a definite tissue-building effect upon invalids, it is reasonable that the body in a healthy state is even better able to assimilate and to benefit from the life-giving juices of Squab meat.

Lecithin for the nervous system,
Phosphorous for the brain,
Protein, the body builder, and the subdivisions of these three great constituents of the human body are all found abundantly in Shoreham Squabs.

her little by little. At times she seemed to be becoming loosened from the grip of the fen, but hardly had she been able to move a leg than it was again sucked down.

The tide rose from her flanks to her neck. Then it seeped about her eyes, making breathing possible only by the lifting of her snout into the air. Four hours after they had started Dr. Kohlman and his aides succeeded in finally loosening Dolly from a death to which she would have succumbed, had the tide flowed two inches further about her nostrils.
